2018 Annual General Benefit Report & Filing

Office of the Minnesota Secretary of State March 13, 2018

(1, i) thedatabank, gbc uses the B Lab certification process as our independent third-party standard. Our most recent certification (2017) can be found here: https://www.beorporation.net/community/thedatabank-gbc-general-benefit-corporation and is attached.

"B Lab is an independent nonprofit organization that serves a global movement of people using business as a force for goodTM." B-Lab created the B Impact Assessment and Certification process in 2006 to independently assess and verify overall social and environmental performance, public transparency, and legal accountability of companies that voluntarily go through the assessment and certification process.

- (1, iii) thedatabank's board approved this third party process in 2010 when we first went through certification and approved the attached report in 2017.
- (2, A, B) thedatabank has created general public benefit by providing technology and services to over 150 nonprofit organizations in Minnesota and across the country that are working to create positive social benefit in their communities. We also create general public benefit by operating our business in a responsible, sustainable way as evidenced in our B Lab report. Some specific ways we have created general public benefit include:
 - Provided software and services to Construction Careers Foundation to support their mission of creating educational opportunities for individuals to become aware of and enter in to a career path within the union construction trades industry.
 - Provided software and services to Ramsey County Workforce Development that has helped increase the percentage of minority and disadvantaged workers hired on government funded construction projects.
 - Provided software and services to Minnesota Environmental Partnership to engage their supporters in efforts that have increased government funding and support for various environmental initiatives in the state.

- Provided software and service to the Twin Cities Metro Independent Business Alliance to support local independent businesses and the Buy Local movement to help increase membership over 40% since 2015.
- Donated over $69,000 in products and services in 2017 to various Minnesota based nonprofits including: Impact Hub, Twin Cities Media Alliance, edemocracy, Science Debate, MNvest, Heartland Democracy Center, Habitat for Humanity, and the Social Enterprise Alliance.
- As a small business we create general public benefit by providing a diverse and safe workplace that creates sustainable employment with living wages, good benefits and investments in employee development.
- We were also named in 2017 "Best for the World" by B Labs as being in the top 10% of all certified B-corps in the areas of workers, community and overall.

These are just a few examples of the many ways thedatabank directly creates general public benefit through our work, and indirectly through working with over 150 social sectors organizations across the country.

(2, C) thedatabank has consistently been hindered in our efforts to create general public benefit through the lack of easily attainable business financing to grow our business. While this is a problem that exists for most small businesses, it is particularly difficult in our experience to for profit companies with social missions.

Respectfully Submitted,

Chris Hanson, CEO & Cofounder

Impact Business Models: Support for Underserved/Purpose Driven Enterprises

IBM40.1 Please tell us more about how your product or service increases the flow of capital and/or provide capacity building to purpose driven enterprises. [Not Weighted]

Our software platform is specifically designed to help our clients build organizational capacities in the following areas: Financial, Advocacy, Networks, Volunteers, Operations, Marketing, and Programs. Our software solutions are custom designed and configured based on an in-depth analysis of each client's specific mission, goals and strategies. For example: Our system can help build financial capacities by helping the client better understand who their current donors are, create campaign strategies based on that understanding, produce and send appeals, and track and analyze responses to those appeals.

Each client solution provides analysis and reporting directly tied to their goals and strategy so they can understand at any given moment where they are, what's working and what isn't working.
